OK so this is one for people who may be passing through Japan in the coming days, want a netbook, and like the idea of it being a limited edition model.

DosPara has launched the Prime Note Cartina UM, a new Linux powered netbook.

It packs in a 8.9 inch (WSVGA) LCD, an Atom N270 processor, 120GB of HDD, 1GB or RAM, Wi-Fi b/g and weighs 1.1kg.

But the company is only making 30 of them so get your running shoes on...
