

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/19459/kenwood-lg-snap-ipod-speaker>

Kenwood and LG say snap over iPod speaker

Can you say re-badge?

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 25 November 2008

It seems as if LG's PC12DAB and Kenwood's CR-iP500 were separated at birth. The LG-branded version of the rugby ball-shaped speaker has launched here in the UK for around the £200 mark, while Kenwood's product twin will see a far-flung Japanese debut for around £185 in December. Maybe they'll somehow meet in the middle and have a tearful reunion around Christmas.

