

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/19509/medion-gopal-p5430-gps-launches>

Medion GoPal P5430 launches

Fully-featured 5-incher

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 26 November 2008

Medion has announced the availability of its latest navigation device, the GoPal P5430, that gets a 5-inch widescreen touchscreen display.

Complete with integrated TMC and a built-in TMC antenna, preinstalled European mapping and a biometric fingerprint sensor, the unit is priced at £180.

There's Navteq map data with a choice of arrow-based, 2D or 3D intelligent visual guidance, with a further split screen option, all the POI features you'd expect and a lane advisor.

The device also has an integrated FM transmitter, Bluetooth hook-up for your phone, MP3 player, photo viewer, travel guide and - somewhat randomly - a Sudoku game.

