Samsung to offer Hugo Boss handset

F480 to get another designer makeover

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 26 November 2008

Obviously Samsung's deal with Armani for a mobile phone team-up was not exclusive. It's being reported that the phone co is to launch a Hugo Boss-flavoured version of the F480.

The specs of the phone are said to remain the same, but the innards get a designer make-over with the usual icons, wallpapers and ringtones that "reflect Hugo Boss style".

Along with a Hugo Boss headset, the phone is said to be going on sale in HB shops in December for 479 euros. We'll bring you more if and when we get the official info through.
