Beatles tunes available for free download

Norwegian podcasts see Fab Four finally digitised

NRK, the Norwegian Broadcasting Corporation, is offering Beatles music available now as a free download.

From the broadcaster's "Vår daglige Beatles", or Our Daily Beatles, a series of radio programmes from 2001, the tunes are available as free and legal downloads - albeit with three minutes of Norwegian discussion preceding each track.

Available to download as a podcast, digital music fans will no doubt be aware of various software solutions that would allow the music-only part of the podcast to be saved down.

The first time that the Beatles' material has ever been available as a legal download, 14 episodes are available now, with the remaining 198 to be posted before the end of January.
