Arcam Blu-ray player snapped at CES

Sneaky peak of future launch

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 12 January 2009

Snapped behind-the-scenes at CES, this image shows an as-yet unreleased Arcam Blu-ray player, the "FMJ-something", the first such offering from the high-end co, and one that we're informed might get a little more public as of February. We'll keep you posted...
