CoPilot Live shown on iPhone and T-Mobile G1

CES 2009: Possible future launches

by Stuart Miles published on 13 January 2009

At the recent CES event, CoPilot demoed its Live mobile phone GPS solution running on both an iPhone and a T-Mobile G1.

David Quin, marketing director explains: "CES is all about innovation and it's great to be able to showcase CoPilot Live navigation running on great devices like the iPhone. We would love to be able to make CoPilot available to the iPhone community via the Apple App Store in the future".

We will keep you informed of any future announcements.
