Babelgum Mobile launches on Vodafone Live!

Free internet TV for Nokia handsets

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 13 January 2009

Babelgum has launched a 6 month trial with Vodafone UK for Babelgum Mobile.

The new internet Mobile TV service will see mobile internet Voda customers get "free" access to video clips including film, music, comedy, animation, nature, travel and sports free of charge.

The Babelgum Mobile application is available to download from Vodafone Live!, initially for contract customers with data bundles for the Nokia N96, N95 and 6210.

Videos range from music offerings to BBC comedy clips and bite-sized extracts from Sir David Attenborough's nature documentaries.

Vodafone customers with compatible handsets can download the app from their Vodafone Live! menu now, or see Babelgum's site for more info.
