

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/2108/sexy-mouse-promises-to-spice-up>

Sexy mouse promises to spice up your computer work

Computers can be boring sometimes so what better way to spruce things up that a mouse dressed in sexy lingerie

by Stuart Miles published on 16 December 2005

Computers can be boring sometimes so what better way to spruce things up than a mouse dressed in sexy lingerie. According to the site; "How could work with a computer ever be a sensual experience? Try our voluptuous Body mouse dressed in fancy lingerie and you'll see!" The pink busty looking mouse is the body of a lady dressed in lingerie. It comes with two buttons - left and right click - where the breasts are, but for those hoping to get a full sensual experience no scroll wheel for stroking. Suitable for both Mac and PC the Body Mouse, as its called, comes with a USB and PS/2 Plug for connecting to a computer. The mouse costs 29.90 euros with an additional 7 euros postage charge. The company behind the Body mouse also make other designs such as a mouse that looks like a chilli, a kitten, a love heart and even a mouse with a plastic koi karp in the base. You can order the mice from pat-says-now.com Via fosfor.se/

