Daily Tech Deal: CD/MP3 car radio with Bluetooth under £50

Money saving deals, offers and innovations

A real cracker of a deal for you today, ideal for anyone needing an all-in-one solution to in-car communications and entertainment.

The Silvercrest CD/MP3 car radio with Bluetooth is available from Lidl for just £48.95.

So installing this baby into your motor will allow you to make hands-free calls (Bluetooth 1.2 and 2.0 compatible) as well as listen to music.

With its Aux In input just plug in MP3 and away you go, alternatively if you have stored your tunes on a memory card then you can just slot it into its SD/MMC card reader.

Other features include 30 station memory capacity, remote control and hands free controller with integrated microphone.

Oh, and just in case you had never heard of the good people at Silvercrest (we hadn't) and were concerned about the build quality you get a 3-year manufacturer's warranty.

Looking at the Lidl website the car radio didn't appear to be available online, so you'll find a link to their store finder below so you can check out your nearest branch.
