Turtle USB hub launches

Hub in a half shell

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 30 March 2009

Not only is this turtle-shaped device a four-port USB hub for connecting up your USB-powered devices to your computer, but its shell hides a cunning secret.

Behold the wonder as the little gadget's plastic shell lifts up to reveal a storage tray for your littlest desk items, such as paperclips and the like.

The "decorative" desk pet is on sale now from USBFever.com for $13.99.
