

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/24098/lg-viewty-smart-available-shops>

LG Viewty Smart in shops now

While 12-megapixel phone revealed for later this year

by Duncan Geere published on 14 May 2009

If you've been eagerly anticipating the Viewty Smart, which Pocket-lint brought you news of in April, then reach for your wallet because it's now available in shops.

As previously reported, the 8-megapixel cameraphone automatically analyses scenes and adjusts camera settings accordingly. There's a 3-inch touchscreen, 1.5 GB of internal memory and microSD card support up to 32GB.

However, if 8 megapixels isn't enough for you, then LG has also announced plans for a 12-megapixel cameraphone planned for launch later this year. We'll bring you more details on that little beauty as soon as we get them.

