Just two months after the release of its D2+ portable media player, Cowon has issued an update to the device's functionality that brings digital radio onboard.

The D2+ DAB comes in 4GB, 8GB and 16GB, and is available in both black and silver. The functionality adds £30 to the price of each model, so they come at £129, £149 and £189 respectively.

Those sizes are expandable with SD and SDHC cards, and the player supports MP3, OGG, WMA, FLAC, WAV, and APE files. It'll work happily on Windows, Mac and Linux.
