WEBSITE OF THE DAY - empora

Already know your style? Now you can find it by Ian Hughes published on 23 June 2009

There comes a time in most people lives when they just know what their own style is.

You'd think that would make buying clothes easier, but it really doesn't - fashions change like the wind and just when you've found a look you're comfortable with, it disappears from sight in all your favourite stores.

This new fashion shopping site solves that by letting you shop by style. You can search by brand, colour, cut or style, so finding your perfect outfit is a whole lot easier.
