Hi-fi equipment manufacturer Marantz has announced the launch of its CD6003 CD player, which supports CD, CD-R and CD-RW playback.

But that's not all - it also features a USB port that you can plug a memory stick into. From there, it'll play any WMA, MP3, AAC and WAV files on the device.

The CD6003 has a frequency response of 2Hz - 20KHz, a signal-to-noise ratio of 110dB and a THD of 0.002%. It costs 370 euros - about £315 - and it'll be available in July.
