

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/25355/suunto-launches-core-extreme-watch>

Suunto launches Core Extreme watch

Limited edition - only 3000 available

by Duncan Geere published on 7 July 2009

Suunto, maker of many a wristwatch, has announced the limited availability of its new timepiece - the Core Extreme. There are only 3000 in existence, all of which are individually numbered.

It includes a number of high end features - an altimeter, barometer and compass, as well as a depth meter, sunrise and sunset times and a menu in four languages.

The pressure gauge operates in four distinct modes, including an automatic setting that senses your movement and picks what it thinks is the most appropriate setting.

The Suunto Core Extreme will be available in mid-July. One Dutch shop is selling it for 329 euros, but we don't have any UK pricing as yet. We'll update if we hear anything.

