PHOTOS: Gorgeous g0 Android concept revealed

Desirable design

We hope the phone manufacturers are taking note of Tryi Yeh's Android concept phone, 'cos it sure is a looker.

The sleek "g0", a reference to the actual G1 launched by HTC, offers a slide-out section with four user definable touch buttons as well as a camera.

In addition to the handset, Yeh has considered a rather neat looking wireless charging device and dock, similar to the Pre's Touchstone.
