VIDEO: Office 2010: The Movie part deux

From the makers of Office 2003 and Office 2007

by Stuart Miles published on 9 July 2009

We've already seen one cheese ball trailer from Microsoft for its yet to be announced Office 2010 suite, however that hasn't stopped them employing "the voice of cinema" once again for another all out bash at trying to impress office types.

With classic one liners like "A hacker has released a rogue font on the Internet" and "Spell check this D.E.D" you know they are having fun but we the viewer are left none the wiser.

In related news, Neowin, is reporting that Monday's Microsoft announcement will see the company detail the launch of Office Web Applications and the Office 2010 beta.

We will keep you posted.
