Daily Tech Deal: Panasonic DMR-BS850EBK Freesat Blu-ray recorder

Money saving deals, offers and innovations

If you're in the market for a Blu-ray player today's tech deal could be right up your street, since there has been another price drop of the Panasonic's DMR range.

The Pocket-lint review of the 500GB model was posted on the 4 June and received our Hot Product Award with a 9/10 score, so for Amazon to be selling it for £806.22, whilst still a considerable outlay, is good value for a bang up-to-date device.

The player will record HD onto Blu-ray disc and HDD (broadcaster's copy restriction will apply) and features two Freesat tuners enabling you to record two programmes simultaneously or record one channel whilst watching another. It also has built-in Dolby TrueHD and is VIERA Cast and BD-Live compatible.

If you don't feel you need the full 500GB then there is the Panasonic DMR-BS750EBK with 250GB which will cost £739.97 from Amazon. There's free delivery on both products and make sure you check out our review for the full run down via the link below.
