VIDEO: Maemo 5 User interface - loud and in your face

As found on the new N900

Nokia's already confirmed that its new "tablet" device, the N900 will be using the Linux based Maemo 5 interface, however here is the promo video showing you up close and personal what it can do in only a way a promo video can.

It seems, according to Nokia anyone hoping to use this device will be opening themselves up to a loud, fast paced, interactive lifestyle that will require you to share your life with the internet and your mates faster than you can down 12 cans of Red Bull and a bottle of Vodka.

Still, if you can keep up with the action it's worth a look. Those who prefer a pipe and a good book in front of the fire should probably turn the volume down before pressing play.

It's loud - annoying neighbour loud.

Banging.
