VIDEO: Panasonic's Fusion entertainment concept for aeroplanes

Futuristic touchscreen for the back of seats revealed by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 7 October 2009

Panasonic Avionics has come up with a new concept for in-seat entertainment on aeroplanes. Dubbed the Fusion, it's for cattle-class seats, rather than for those that turn left. It gets an advanced touchscreen a USB port and iPod integration. When fitted into planes of the future it will offer video, games and internet access in a rather tidy design.
