

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/4245/headphones-ipod-music-audio-dap>

Underwater headphones let you swim with your iPod

Singing with the fishes

by Amber Maitland published on 8 August 2006

Now here's a little something to consider taking on holiday with you.

IWorld.co.uk, the shop for all things iPod, has just added waterproof headphones to its accessory lineup.

The H20 Audio headphones let you listen to your iPod to a depth of up to 10ft, or 3m, thanks to waterproof housing and waterproof speakers.

IWorld says they're robust enough for "active watersports" thanks to a behind-the-neck design, silicone earplugs, and a durable neckwrap to keep them in place.

But the headphones are pretty near useless unless you also buy the Aquapac Waterproof iPod Case and Belt, which is guaranteed to waterproof, dustproof and sandproof your iPod.

The headphones are £26.99, and the Aquapac is £59.99; both are available at iWorld.co.uk

