Orange offers unlimited broadband for under £20 a month

Also includes free international calling through VoIP

by Amber Maitland published on 2 November 2006

Orange has revamped its broadband plan and now offers unlimited internet access as well as free international calling and calls to UK landlines through VoIP for under £20 a month.

For £19.99, Orange provides a Livebox wireless router and offers unlimited download usage at speeds of up to 8Mbps.

Its Broadband Starter package has also changed, to offer speeds of up to 2Mbps and a usage allowance of 2GB. In order to court new customers, Orange offers a 30 trial period without commitment with a standard USB modem. The starter package costs £14.99.

broadband packages

The screenshot displays three promotional cards for Orange broadband. The first card, 'Broadband Starter', is described as 'perfect if you're new to broadband' and costs £14.99 a month. It lists features: up to 2Meg speed, 2GB download allowance, free modem to connect your computer, and a 30 day money back guarantee. The second card, 'Broadband Unlimited', is described as 'get it all for one great price' and costs £19.99 a month. It lists features: up to 8Meg speed, unlimited downloads (fair use policy applies), Livebox to connect up to six computers wirelessly, and UK and international landline calls included. The third card, 'broadband is free', states 'with selected mobile plans' and includes a 'find out more' button. Below the cards are two 'find out more' buttons. The background of the cards features a stylized landscape with trees and a sun.
