Breakfast gadget must have? The One Click Butter Cutter

No more messy butter dish

by Stuart Miles published on 24 January 2007

We're not sure how many problems you have spreading butter on your toast in the morning, however it appears Americans suffer greatly. So much so that an online shop called Whatever works; Garden, Home, Pest control, is selling the One Click Butter Cutter.

According to them "Portion control is an important part of staying healthy. This ingenious butter cutter delivers one standard pat with each click of the handle. No more messy butter dish. 5 pats equal 1 tablespoon. Slices, serves, and stores one stick of butter or margarine. ABS plastic. Dishwasher safe. 2"W x 3"D x 8"H".

Ingenious or sheer madness? Either way it's yours for $19.99.
