

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/6514/nike-hatphone-ipod-nano-clothing>

Nike launch Nike Hatphone for iPod

Music in your ears

by Stuart Miles published on 2 February 2007

Nike has launched the Hatphone, a soft shell therma-FIT hat with built in controls for your iPod nano.

The company says "This cozy, comfortable skullcap features full functional Nano click wheel controls through a power mesh window in back so you can keep moving while mixing up your music".

The Nike Hatphones Cap sells for $60 in the US and is available in black, grey, blue and red. No price as yet as to whether it will be available in the UK.

Last year Nike teamed up with Apple to launch a combined running kit with the iPod and its trainers. There is no word from Nike as to whether the Hatphone is a part of that system.

