Denon has announced a new high-end miniature Hi-Fi called the Denon CX3 system that offers CD and SACD Stereo playback among other things.

Not for the faint hearted or those looking for a bit of sound in their bedroom, according to Denon, the "CX3 is £2700.00 of killer performance, featuring all of Denon's most serious high-end Hi-Fi technology in one sleek elegant and easy-to-use package".

The hand-built unit is made from a cast-alloy construction, has a newly developed High-Power Amplifier 2 x 150W (4Ohms, 0.7% THD) and features the SC-CX303 speakers that feature carbon-fibre woofers and were jointly developed by European sound engineers and Denon.

Of course its also offers optional iPod integration for those with Apple's iconic MP3 player.
