

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/7105/reef-dram-sandal-spirits-flask>

Reef Dram Sandal with built in flask for happy hour

Enough for 3 shots of whiskey

by Stuart Miles published on 22 March 2007

The English way to carry your whiskey or gin has normally been in a decent silver hip flask in your jacket pocket. However surfing brand Reef wants to change all that with the launch of a new sandal - the Dram.

On the outside it looks like a humble beach sandal, however tucked inside the sole is a compartment for just over 3 shots of spirits like that whiskey you know you love.

As for the sandals, its business as usual.

It's not the first time Reef has offered drinkers a lifeline. The company also offers a sandal with built-in bottle opener for those who prefer beer to spirits.

