Rate your mates - in a retro style

by Ian Hughes published on 10 May 2007

If you're of a certain age, you will remember fondly, spending hour upon hour playing Top Trumps with your best mates. You may even still be in touch with some of those mates. You may even have been tempted by the recent updated version of Top Trumps. You may not though. Either way I bet one thing you've always wanted to do was create your very own set of cards.

Now you can, and to make it truly personal, you can do it literally with your friends.

With customisable categories, you can upload their mug shots and then rate them as you really see them.

This is probably the best idea we've seen all year and we have to say a huge thank you to beerology.co.uk for putting us onto it.

The screenshot shows the website interface for top-mates.co.uk. At the top, there is a navigation menu with links: Home, Create Cards, What you get, Gallery, Reprints, Links & Press. Below the menu, there are two circular buttons: 'Free Sample' and 'Mac User?'. The main content area is titled 'How to Play' and contains text explaining how to create and use the cards. A sample card for 'top animal' is shown, featuring a photo of a man and a list of attributes with scores: Owers (93), Laikyness (4), Cleavage (80), Facial Hair (89), Pulling Power (9), and Strokeability (9). Below the sample card, there is a row of small thumbnail images of various people. At the bottom, there are logos for 'retrofone' and 'top-mates', along with contact information: 'Contact: sales@top-mates.co.uk' and 'For a very large order we are happy to quote and fulfil'. A small copyright notice at the bottom reads: '© 2006 Developed and maintained by ECA Computer Ltd (01473 66098)'.
