

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/7715/htl-cpc-mobile-ankle-strap>

One for the ladeez, a must-have for your mobile

Have you always wanted a high-fashion ankle phone?

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 14 May 2007

Sent to Pocket-lint.co.uk this week is a new fashion/phone accessory from the States. Described as being the new way for women to "wear" their phones, it will have most sane people OMG-ing in delighted horror.

Boasting that the new CPC strap will transform your mobile into a "hi-fashion ankle phone" stated on the site, with no discernible irony, is the following: "when you wear your Bluetooth headset and your cell phone strapped around your ankle, you have flair, you have a strong sense of style, you are a trendsetter and you don't mind being the center of attention".

Well, we think they might be right about the attention part.

