WEBSITE OF THE DAY - spacetime.com

Revolutionise the way you browse the web

by Ian Hughes published on 14 June 2007

Our News Editor described this as "freakin' mega" and I think she might just be right.

This software will change the way you view the web - literally.

As long as your PC is up to the job (decent processor, beefy graphics card, etc) you'll be able to view your web pages in 3D.

Your tabbed pages will come flying towards you as you scroll through them; images seem to leap from the screen and the whole experience will leaving you feeling that IE7 and Firefox are so last century.

This could be the only way you'll be surfing the net in the near future. Take a look at what's to come.
