Laptop of the future - the Compenion

Crazy concept lappie

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 19 June 2007

This super skinny, super shiny portable PC concept by Felix Schmidberger has two sliding OLED touchscreens.

For home entertainment the Compenion has a built-in movie projector, and for office use, you can use the stylus, or hook up a "proper" keyboard.

We're not convinced by the design, but we do like the designer's name.
