WEBSITE OF THE DAY - bakespace.com

A new place to share your appetites online. Ooh er...

by Ian Hughes published on 9 July 2007

Regular readers of this slot will know that I have a bit of a sweet tooth. Chocolate, cakes, donuts, biscuits, in fact pretty much anything that can contain sugar is a always well received round these parts.

You can probably imagine my excitement then, when this little gem was forwarded to me by our ever-industrious Newsdesk.

A social networking site aimed at those who love food and the preparation of food.

You can swap recipes, techniques and tips or even film yourself cooking your favourite grub to upload and share with the world.

There's savoury stuff here too, but who's interested in that, eh?

Yummy.
