Photographs and details of the new Samsung SGH-i570 Symbian smartphone have been leaked online.

The slider features a full Qwerty keypad and runs Symbian 9.1. It appears to be similar to the coming soon i620, which has the Windows Mobile OS instead.

Apparently it will boast Wi-Fi, HSDPA, EDGE and Bluetooth with 160MB internal memory plus a microSD card slot.

The rumours give it a 2-megapixel camera, video calling camera on the front and dimensions of 96 x 60 x 16mm.

No dates or prices revealed.
