IFA 2007: iRiver announce B20 media player

New player comes with DAB radio

by Stuart Miles published on 30 August 2007

iRiver has announced the B20, a 1GB, 2GB, and 4GB PMP to go up against the Creative Zen and Sony's new S-Series Walkman.

The new model will feature a 2.4-inch TFT LCD screen and supports multi-codec video and digital audio playback, DAB/FM radio, enhanced photo viewing and Flashlite game support.

Available from mid September the player will also sport an integrated mono speaker, a digital photo album, an SD card slot and Flashlite game support.

The device also promises up to 27 hours of DAB and FM listening.
