

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/9894/uniea-cases-ipod-nano-fatty>

Uniea jumps the gun with cases for iPod nano fatty

Creates products based on rumours and spy pics

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 3 September 2007

In what is almost certainly a bid for publicity rather than any kind of insider info, Uniea has produced a range of cases for the rumoured iPod nano "fatty".

Although Apple's legal team did get the originating site to remove those spy pics of the shorter, fatter nano, it's far from certain that this is what will be launched at the Apple event on Wednesday.

Looks like Uniea don't see it that way, although they're hedging their bets on the name, calling it just the "new iPod"...

